Happenings of Interest in and Around this Bustling Town. You are Talked About

Miss North has secured a position at the "Palm."

Mrs. A. McClure has secured a position at the Coleman Bakery.

David Lewis has been unfortunate to have his head badly cut by rock falling on it in the mine on Tuesday night.

Rev. J. Sergeant, pastor of the Baptist church, will preach next Sunday in I.O.O.F. hall, at 8:30 o'clock.

The Rev. Mr. Grant and family are reported as visiting at the home of Dr. Macdonald in Frank.

The Rev. J. I. Matheson of Coleman, is taking the pulpit of Knox church during Mr. Grant's absence.

Rev. J. Sanville is on the sick list, having been ill for the past two weeks. He is now recuperating at the sanatorium at Blairmore.

Mrs. L. Manly and two children of Grand Forks, B.C., arrived in town last week, and is spending a couple of weeks with Mr. Manly.

WANTED—A reliable woman to look after house and cook for two miners, also invalid lady. Apply to Coleman Wilson, house 62, main street, Coleman.

The "Homer Times" is the latest addition to the journalistic arena. It is a neat and bright newspaper, and the "Miner" wishes the Times every success and prosperity. J. Peck McSwain assisted in issuing the first number.

FOR SALE—A cottage beautifully situated, comfortable and located in the residential portion of Coleman. A good cash proposition or easy terms will be given. S. Charles Brooks, "The Coleman Woods," Brook street, Merritt, Victoria, B.C.

The road work has been stopped owing to some trouble between the government and the contractor. It is hoped the work will be completed before the winter comes on. From what is heard, no doubt, it will. Go on with the good work. It is needed.

Mr. John Nathan has severed his connection with the post office, and will leave for the post office at the Coleman Hardware Co. tomorrow. Mr. Nathan will be missed at the post office, as he was very obliging and courteous to everyone while handling His Majesty's mail.

Indications of the state of unpreparedness of the government for the election for the election is the fact that no maps of the province showing the new redistribution have been made as yet, and candidates have to draw up their own from the schedules. The copies of this election act are not printed, and only a limited number are available.

Reports are received in town from parties who go for fish in Crow's Nest lake that hundreds of fish are lying on the shore, and seem to have been killed by blasting in the lake. This has been going on for several months, and it is high time a stop was put to it. Nets are also being used, and the beautiful speckled trout are being destroyed wholesale.

Ever alert to the requirements and comfort of the children, the school board are having the school renovated. It is being varnished and kalsomined, the black boards put in shape and cleaned for the opening of school. The school board are doing the painting and kalsomining.

The Winnipeg Free Press, Liberal, says the Ottawa government has a surplus of over $10,000,000. The Winnipeg Telegram, Conservative, says there is a deficit at Ottawa of $10,000,000 behind for the year. Which paper are the public to believe? The Coleman "Miner" says that Coleman is the best and most progressive town in the Crow's Nest Pass. This, everyone knows to be true.

Roy Hogarth, vice clerk at the Coleman and Wm. Cameron went up the south fork of the Old Man river on Saturday for a day's fishing. They caught about seventy pounds of fine speckled trout. This is the first time Mr. Hogarth did any fly fishing, and he caught about fifty of the finest fish ever pulled from a stream. His partner caught the most in pounds, but "Don" got the largest fish.

On Sunday evening a. the express train was moving out at the rate of ten miles an hour, a 6-year-old boy put out his hand and tried to catch the cars as they went by. Numbers of boys from 5 to 10 years of age crowd on the station platform daily, and especially on Sunday nights. If the parents cannot keep these boys, and girls too, at home at such a late hour, the authorities should attend to it that they are kept off the street after dark.

The Frank Paper dated July 16th, says that the Coleman Literary Association meeting held on Tuesday, July 21st at Coleman was all that the opera house could contain. The number of people counted and just 140 were the number in the hall, and all these were not filled. The Frank paper is always trying to injure Coleman, and takes this means of trying to belittle the new hall. The miners have, by far, the largest and best hall here that can be seen in the Crow's Nest Pass. It is capable of seating at least 600 people comfortably, and any travelling show can be assured of a grand hall to give an entertainment. All the Frank Paper can do against the town cannot harm it, as the public know the paper, and they also know the town.

Dr. Westwood, J.F. Povah, L. Manly and two little daughters went to the lake yesterday for a day's fishing.

INSTITUTIONAL CHURCH—Pastor, Rev. T. M. Murray. Services: Sabbath 11 a.m. 7:30 p.m. Sabbath school and Bible class, 2:30. Christian Endeavor, Wednesday 8 p.m.

If you would like to secure a full set of the new postage stamps issued for the Quebec tercentenary, you can get them at the post office for the small sum of 61 cents. They are beautiful and make a fine souvenir of the 300th anniversary of the founding of Quebec.

The gap in the side walk at the Coleman hotel, which has been an eyesore for a long time, is being repaired. Davies & Hamer, the contractors, were ordered to do this job the 1st of July, by Mutz & McNeill, but owing to being away from town, the work was delayed.

Do you give your clothes the attention they deserve? Perhaps you have got some suits which are in a measure discarded owing to their dilapidated condition. Do throw them away. Have them made new. The cleaning, repairing and pressing of suits is one of our specialities. J. E. Upton & Co., "The Toggery."

$10.00 CASH, $10.00 A MONTH

Nothing cheaper in this country, for 10 acres of excellent fruit land, in B.C. No one else has anything like this low price. $10 per month, no interest, will make you independent in a short while, and lord of your own affairs. Apply at the Coleman "Miner" office.

A grand opening of the Miners' Hall and Opera House will take place tomorrow evening, Saturday, commencing at 8 o'clock sharp. The entertainment which will be given will be a special feature, and everybody is cordially invited to be present. The ladies, both married and single, are invited. No charge will be made for admission. The Coleman band will be present and a very pleasant time is expected. It is expected that the stores will close earlier on this occasion so that the clerks and management may attend before the programme is half over.

Some unknown man has been seen recently loitering around in early evening time in the vicinity of the little school house and beneath the side walk where little girls and ladies have to pass on their way to and from the school. So frightened a small group of little girls the other evening that one of them came near fainting. This condition of things is absurd and very unbecoming, and "measures" should be taken to prevent any and all like conduct in the village at all times.

Quite frequently it is shockingly noticed that little children playing along the railroad track or strolling along it between the depot and Silver town, unattended by older people. Some of them so small that it is with difficulty they could travel upon the side walk let alone upon a dangerous thoroughfare where one sees and hears of so many accidents happening. A word to the wise is deemed sufficient, and it is hoped such dangerous recklessness to human life will be remedied.

The Coleman Hardware Company have secured the contract for putting in the water plant for the Coleman hotel. Several other firms figured on the contract, but the work will be done by the home firm. A septic tank, probably the first and only one in the Crow's Nest Pass, has just been completed for the hotel by the Coleman Hardware Co. Fred Cote, who did the work, and who will also install the hot water plant, is a first-class workman, and does his work in a splendid manner. Fred knows his business from A to Z, and it is hard to beat him.

RING THE CURFEW

Fernie Free Press: The young girls of Fernie have come in for a good deal of adverse criticism lately. According to orthodox standards, some of them are entitled to it. But it will occur to those who are more familiar with the nature of youth, that it is not the children who are to be held responsible for their conduct. The general influences bearing on the youth of this city, are to a large extent, bad-totter. The healthy young animal alive with instincts and susceptible to environment requires neither the strong guiding hand, nor the watchful eye, but agreeable, attractive influences and avocations to counteract the undesirable. Passive resistance makes the devil's work easy. The demi-monde has the freedom of the city, the streets, typically western, are the play ground of our youth, the barrooms are the only indoor places of public resort. Is it any wonder that our children go wrong?

The above is about true. And furthermore the parents are somewhat to blame for allowing their children to go about as they like. If the boys and girls were compelled to be home at certain hours summer and winter, they would materially assist to keep them from mischief. The fire alarm sounders every evening in Coleman to warn the children to go to their homes would improve matters. Would it not be well to set in this matter before it is too late. All avenues of pleasure are open, whether they be good or evil, seven days in the week, but the churches are open for a few hours on Sunday, and a big key turned in the lock for six days. The times are changing but upon the fact that in the present there are as yet no municipalities. Consequently all road work and bridge work has to be attended to by the central government, which in turn has to be advised by the local member, and if he has too large a district to represent the district is liable to suffer through unintentional neglect.

UNDERHAND DOINGS OF DR. BECHTEL

An interesting case among the medical fraternity, and a disastrous affair for Dr. D. J. Bechtel, was tried at Blairmore on Tuesday. Dr. Bechtel, who, by the way, came to Alberta from Massachusetts, was admitted to the medical profession of Alberta, and has been in many different towns in this province trying to get practice. He has been along the Crow's Nest Pass, and is known (not favorably) from Landbeck to Fernie. When he found he could not get practice in the mining camps legitimately, he tried other means. The doctor tried to bribe a man at Michel to come to Coleman and "work" the miners to oust Dr. Westwood and get his position. He also tried to bribe Dr. Westwood's assistant, but failed. He tried the same trick at Lillie and the miners there gave him the contract, but at Michel, he tried without success. Dr. Kennedy of Michel, president of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Alberta, Dr. McBurn of Lethbridge, Dr. Simpson of Lacombe, and Dr. Hodson of Strathcona, tried the charges against Dr. Bechtel placed by Dr. Westwood of Coleman, with the result that the accused had his name struck from the list of physicians and surgeons of Alberta. H. Smith, president of the Miners' Union in the Crow's Nest Pass, secretary of the Union, were the only witnesses from Coleman. Dr. Westwood did not appear, as it was not necessary. The best proof of Dr. Westwood's good work among the miners at Coleman is that his salary was raised only a short time ago. Letters of the proof of Dr. Bechtel's guilt written by himself were produced at the hearing. Dr. O'Hagen of Lillie, in company with Dr. Westwood, laid the charge. Dr. O'Hagen suffered at Lillie in consequence of the underhand work of Dr. Bechtel. Not only did the accused try his underhand work with the men, but he tried to influence the women against the doctors. It is hoped that if any more men parade themselves as doctors along the Pass that they will be much more severely dealt with.

THE WAY TO FIX THEM

At the supreme court sittings at Calgary last week in the case of Joseph Hicks, barrister at Macleod, the chief justice rendered a judgment that was concurred in by the court. The case arose out of the complaint of one of the lawyer's clients who had not received an accounting of all money received from the sale of certain lands situated in the Macleod district and sold by the defendant. The defence was held by the court was not the same as that given at the previous trial. Application was made for a stay of judgment until the other evening that the defendant did not know what was coming. A check stub was shown dated May 5, it was stated that the account had been sent at that time. The court did not consider the defence sufficient to allow of any course but that of having the name of Hicks struck from off the roll of the Law Society.

There is another lawyer at Lethbridge who should be dealt with in the same fashion. He has done thousands of times worse than Mr. Hicks ever thought of, and there are far better men behind the bars today serving terms.

"FAUST" AT BLAIRMORE

In brief, the plot is as follows: Faust, a learned alchemist, doctor of philosophy, having reached that age when all pleasures of the senses are over, invokes the aid of the spirits to give him new emotions, that life might be worth living. In response to his frenzied appeal, Mephisto appears, and agrees to give Faust youth, health and passions, and all the pleasures of enjoyment to be drawn therefrom upon condition that when the gamut is run his soul shall belong to Mephisto. Faust is dazzled and does not apprehend the beautiful vision of Marguerite, wrapped in an angelic halo, which fades away as he passionately kisses upon the cheek. He accedes to Mephisto's demand and a compact is drawn between them. The aged and senile philosopher is transformed into a handsome youth, burning with passion and eager with anticipation. From this time forward his one thought is of Marguerite. Then follow his meetings with her, their mutual love, his betrayal of her confidence, the poisoning of her mother, while seeking only to make her slumber more deeply; the return of Valentine, her soldier brother, whose arms he informs of his blasted home. He meets Faust in duel and by the devil's aid is killed. Insidious Mephisto excites the justice-loving neighbors of Marguerite by informing them of the seeming unnatural murder of her mother, and she is carried off to prison. Faust finds his way into Marguerite's cell partially demented. He proposes to carry her away to escape the dire consequences of her crime, but at this time the gentle spirit goes out and Mephisto claims Faust's life. Faust is saved by the intervention of the spirit of repentance and remorse. Ministers throughout the country higher than Faust as a moral lesson and critics of great repute dwell long in praise of this presentation of the seasons. The scenic display to surpass all previous attempts. This production is booked to appear at Blairmore Opera House Aug. 4th.

From several parts of the country demands are coming in to the provincial government for more representation in the legislature. These demands, in some measure, arising from the increased settlement of the country in the past three years, are mainly based upon the fact that in the present there are as yet no municipalities. Consequently all road work and bridge work has to be attended to by the central government, which in turn has to be advised by the local member, and if he has too large a district to represent the district is liable to suffer through unintentional neglect.

Dr. Wilson's Treatment for Obscure Freckles.

(Recommended by Erasmus Wilson, and though excellent for all cases, it does not suit all complexions equally well.)
Elderflower ointment, 1 ounce; sulphate of zinc, 30 grains.
Rub the affected parts of the skin at night, in the morning wash the cerate off with soap and soft water and afterward apply a lotion thus composed:
Infusion of rose, ½ pint; citric acid, 3 grains.
All local discolorations, Dr. Wilson affirms, will disappear under this treatment, or, if the freckles are numerous, they will at least be greatly ameliorated.
The following recipe should stimulate the growth of your eyebrows:

Eyebrow and Eyelash Grower.
Cologne, 2½ ounces; glycerine, 1½ ounces fluid extract of Jaborandi, 2 drams.
Agitate ingredients till thoroughly incorporated. Apply the eyebrow with the brush, and the lashes with a tin camel-hair paint brush. The brush must be freed from any drip and passed lightly along the edge of the eyelids. Exercise extreme care that no minutest portion of the lotion touches the eye itself.

To Remove Hairs
Will you please print in your columns as soon as possible a good remedy for removing hair from the arms?
A CONSTANT READER.
Use the depilatory of sulphide of strontium as given for "H. S."

NO sufferer from the disease needs to be told of the tortures of insomnia. The mere strain of waiting through the long night for the rest which never comes is ruinous to the nerves, leaving the subject of the disastrous effects of loss of sleep out of the discussion. Few, however, know of the really damaging ravages it makes on whatever good looks its unfortunate victim may possess.

Only one night of sleeplessness brings as its concomitant heavy eyes, dull skin and flabby muscles; think, then, of the results of many weeks absolutely devoid of slumber! One hesitates before a catalogue of the ills this dread disorder brings in its train. Lustreless hair, wrinkles, dark circles under the eyes, trembling hands—all are numbered within it.

Fortunately, insomnia is no longer an incurable ill. It occupies, in fact, something of the position of the proverbial cold, for which there are more remedies than words, and from which it is difficult to escape without catching it. The fact that it was so long considered irremedial was due to the failure of the old and established "cures." Counting sheep as they go over the wall, once the patient has believed of these, is a sure road to insanity rather than to sleep! Ros, too, of the counting exercise, where one was supposed to lie wide-eyed and count up to a hundred or even a thousand; though thousands, the agony usually being terminated only by the cock's crow or the breakfast bell. All of these tasks are impositions upon the already overworked nervous system, and tend to aggravate the condition instead of relieving it.

The new science teaches, the value of repose. Only by perfect rest, and that forgetfulness that comes only through extreme concentration, can the body be thoroughly relaxed and as little concerned by clothing as possible. Lie flat on your back, with your arms and legs close your eyes. In fact, abjure muscular effort entirely. Then, striving for perfect relaxation, repeat the following exercises: Imagine the word "Sleep" or "Repose" to be hung in the air, right above your head. Then, think the room be in utter darkness. Pretend to yourself that you can see in the darkness. Continue making the word "Sleep" or "Repose" hang all your attention on it, until the eyelids fall and themselves and sleep rewards your efforts. This exercise is not only relaxing, but difficult and requires some practice. In the same way as in the previous drill, you may repeat the word "Sleep" or "Repose" ten in letters of fire, and allow the flames to travel over your entire body, from head to toe. This exercise is at first this feat appears impossible, and even ridiculous, but in a short time it becomes easy, and is a sure way of inducing sleep.

To pass from the purely mental to the purely physical, insomnia is often cured by taking nourishment before retiring. It is a good idea to have a small table by the bed placed a spiral or electric lamp, a glass of milk or orange or lemon juice, and a few drops of the tincture of the horehound. Intermittent sleepers, as a little warm milk and a cracker taken whenever one awakes soon destroy the reason for the waking. (Quoted from the Good Housekeeping magazine.) The reason for this purpose, if the sleepless of good neighbors do not object to the odor. Never take any heavy food, but have a glass of milk or orange juice, if it is only a glass of hot water.

Exercise plays an important part in the new treatment. One of the finest of these causing active laziness, is the exercise of the feet. One should go backward and forward, until one drops from exhaustion. Do not, however, employ this exercise immediately after retiring. The best time for it is sleep breathing is of the greatest ben-fit, and should be practiced regularly before retiring. Stand in loose negligé at a wide open window, and take twenty or thirty of the deepest breaths you can muster, throwing the head far back and rising on the toes with each

Many persons already afflicted with insomnia have cured themselves by systematic reading. Naturally the book chosen should not be of a particularly exciting, but neither should it be so dull as not to hold the attention at all. One of the modern light novels is a good example of this. It is, of course, not a particularly good one, but fortunately, most persons attempting this method read themselves securely in a state of indifference to the subject, and by the bedside to read. As a result, when they begin to grow drowsy they do not feel that they are about to fall into bed, the light removes the wrapper and climbs into bed, all of which effectively destroy any tendency to slumber. They are sitting up in bed, with the light near enough at hand to extinguish it, and they are not aware of it. If you have an invalid's table, you may simply place your book on that, and when you are ready to go to bed, you lean over. Last of all, the book should not, unless you are possessed of a very strong will, be of a nature calculated to prove a serious weight.

Concentration is the keynote of all these mental exercises. Perhaps the easiest way to obtain this is by staring at either some bright stationary object, or at one whose movements bewilder the mind by their brilliancy and velocity. An electric light, often within the range of one's window, in the city, at least, is perhaps the best example of the former, and a bowl of goldfish, of the latter. Gazing steadily at either of them, or at anything of the sort, will soon close the eyelids from utter weariness.

Perhaps the worst thing that could be done by the sufferer from insomnia is to lie in a strained position, with the eyes tightly closed, in an effort to force the coming of sleep. This is all wrong. In the first place, one should lie in a perfectly relaxed position, with the head, neck, arms and legs at right angles to each other. This precludes any but a very low pillow. The bedclothes should be as light as is consistent with warmth, and the room should be well ventilated. Far from closing the eyes, the very best thing one can do is to hold them wide open. When the eyes are open, the feet, which should be forced open again, until one is too weary to lift them, and sleep comes as a result.

Nearly every one of these cures is as preventive as well, and if for any reason one fears that he is going to lose sleep, nothing better could be recommended to forestall the expected attack. Indirectly each of them is, too, a beautifier, for the slumber they induce is the surest road to good looks. By removing the nervous strain incident to insomnia they remove a host of petty ills, and that beauty which only

Finally, the victim of insomnia need fear the effects of none of these remedies. Each is absolutely harmless, and the surest proof of this assertion lies in the fact that even those not sufferers from this "fell disorder" would benefit greatly by their use. That is the best medicine which is the well man's food.

Could you give me some recipe for getting rid of wrinkles under the eyes? I have three deep wrinkles unde, each eye, and when I laugh about a dozen underneath and at the outer corner of each eye. There are also two deep lines at each corner of my mouth when I laugh.

If the wrinkles are not of very long standing, you might try the following Milk of White Roses.

(A Cure for Wrinkles.)

Rosewater	1/4 pint
Simple tincture of benzoin	1 ounce
Attar of roses	3 drops

Put the rosewater in a basin. Add the tincture of benzoin a drop at a time. Add attar of roses, and bottle.

Perhaps the best thing you could do, however, would be to massage the wrinkles. Full directions for massaging the face have been given in so recent an article that it will not be necessary to repeat them now. Almost everyone has these "laughing wrinkles," and they are very hard to get rid of, especially when of long standing. Massage is slow in its results, but certainly is slow in its results, but certainly is practically certain by its means.

Enlarged Pores and Wrinkles

Find your green soap treatment for black-heads fine. Please let me know how to treat enlarged pores and how to remove wrinkles on the forehead. B. E. Q.

I am glad you like the green soap treatment. The enlarged pores ought to disappear under this lotion:

Lotion for Enlarged Pores.

Boric acid 1 dram
Distilled witch hazel 4 ounces

Apply with a bit of old linen or absorbent cotton.

Constant massage alone can remove the wrinkles. Massage the forehead night and morning with a good cream and they will finally be removed.

Massage Cream.

Lanolin	4 1/2	ounces
Spermaceti	4	ounce
White vaseline	2 1/2	ounces
Cocconut oil	1	ounce
Sweet almond oil	1	ounce
Tincture of benzoin	1/2	drum

Melt the first five ingredients together

Extract of violet or any perfume may be added if accessible.

For a Rough Skin

I would like to have a good cold cream for my face.

Has he told you to advise me to treat my face? It is so rough, and the pores are large, giving my face a coarse, gummy look, and my face seems yellowish.

Yes, I will write and make my skin fine and smooth. Also something to take that grimy look away. I want a cream that I can use as a cleansing cream, and I can do it with my own looking, and I think wanting it so often does it. Do you advise the face brush and soap.

Some people say it makes large pores.

My skin is very fine.

I am afraid to use hair on the face that I am afraid to use any creams, but have heard yours are so good. Please give me a cream I can use with a little powder, that will make natural red cheeks?

The cream of sweet oranges, so often given in this page, is as whitening skin food as you could find, and if it is used faithfully should greatly improve your skin.

Then you might try the following cleansing cream, if you think washing your face during the day hurts you.

By all means use a face brush, but be careful not to be too vigorous at first as you say your face is so sensitive. Follow these directions carefully as you need not fear superfluous hair.

How to Use the Camel's-Hair

Face Scrubbing Brush.
Immerse the brush in water as hot can be pleasantly borne. Soap it well, just as you would if you were about to use it for your hands. Scrub the face thoroughly, taking especial care of the places that most need it. Rinse the face with cold water.

Require cleansing. Rinse the face with cooler clean water, so as to get all the soap out of the pores. Dry carefully and apply cream or toilet balsam; any good emollient will answer.

Here is the recipe for the cleanser cream:

Cleansing Cream.
White wax	2	ounce
Stearic acid	2	ounce
Sweet almond oil	12	ounce
Distilled water	2	ounce
Glycerine	2	ounce

The best and only way to get your cheeks naturally is to live a hygienic life, and to exercise as much as possible in the open air. Eat plenty of fruit and nourishing food, and drink as much

I should not advise the constant use of any remedy, as it clogs the pores hereditary, the following formula might help you, instead:

Alum 10 grains
Almond milk (thick) 16 ounces Mix the alum with the milk and dissolve the alum in the rosewater, then pour gently into the almond milk with constant stirring.
Apply with a soft cloth every night before retiring.
Too much coffee or tea is bad for the skin, causing it to become sallow and dry. It would be best to discontinue or, at least, to moderate, their use. Use a good skin-food, such as the Pomade Grecque, often given in these columns.
The latter is the best remedy for the skin creams known. Use it just as you would a prepared cream.

Bowel Disorders

During the hot, sultry days of summer everybody is in peril. This peril creeps upon us unawares and weakens and disables us without a moment's warning. Serious stomach and bowel troubles are liable to attack at any time. Most stomach and bowel disorders can be easily eluded if taken in time. "In time" means "at once." Bowel disorders weaken the system so quickly that there is danger from the start. No ill to which human beings are subject debilitates so rapidly, and few cause greater suffering. An effective safe remedy should be kept in the house at all times. We have a few preparations which we have no hesitation in recommending.

THE ALL-RED ROUTE

Lord Strathcona, in an able paper read at the Royal Colonial Institute in London, which has attracted a remarkable amount of attention from the British press, has set forth convincingly the advantages that will result from the realization of the All-Red Route project of a British highway between Great Britain, New Zealand and Australia by way of Canada—along which the objective points shall be entirely in British territory or under British control, the transcontinental lines in Canada, being made the connecting links between steamers on the Pacific and on the Atlantic, whose speed and accommodation shall be of the best and most up-to-date character.

Canada will thus be made the centre and the main highway of a trade route that will more than go half-way to girdling the earth. Lord Strathcona's paper deals with the whole subject in a thoroughgoing systematic manner. He points out that the development of steam navigation in the Atlantic could never have been as rapid as it was but for the assistance given by the British Government to the Cunard Line in the early days of the new propelling power, and even then the voyage occupied fourteen days; and the same thing may be said of the subsidies given to the Allan Line by the Government of Canada when regular steam services to and from Canada were inaugurated. "I cannot bring myself to believe," says Lord Strathcona, "that the United Kingdom will hesitate to join hands with its fellow-subjects in Canada, New Zealand and Australia, and withhold the financial assistance necessary for the utilization of this new British route. Indeed we know that the home Government joined in the resolution at the Conference."

The realization of this great project is only a question of time. Those who are advocating its realization at the present moment are doing so in the interests of the general welfare of the British countries concerned, in order that the advantages to be derived may come in the immediate future, instead of being deferred. Speaking of the extent of the present travel between the different parts of the Empire and the volume of the present inter-Imperial trade, Lord Strathcona says: "All that can be seen in blue-books. It is interesting and important, but the new route will create a traffic and a trade of its own. As was pointed out at the Imperial Conference, the question is one of policy. Do we want the service, or do we not? Will it be beneficial to the Empire? And can it be made a commercial success? Let us decide these points, and the terms of the partnership in the scheme, and we shall not have long to wait before the new organization is called into being. For my own part, I am of the opinion that it will be successful and prosperous—affairs of financial interest that may be involved and for the different countries more immediately concerned in its development."

At the present time as Mr. Sifton pointed out in his brief, comprehensive speech in the recent debate in the Dominion House, the short, rapid and, in some sense, the direct service for passengers, mail and express from Canada to Great Britain is through the United States. That which it is desired to send quickly must go through the United States; and it is a rule the world over that in order to secure the best facilities for doing business, the best facilities must be provided for passenger, mail and express services. These facilities go with other business. One builds up the other, one is necessary for the other and if there is to be the best possible development of business between Great Britain and Canada all three classes of traffic, passenger, mail and freight, must be on as good a basis as from any other country. Freight will follow the easiest and best line of trade.

This country cannot be permanently under obligation to the country to the south for its passenger, mail and express traffic. That has been the feeling of the people of Canada from the beginning. There are difficulties to surmount, it is true, but we have also enormous geographical advantages that only require courage and enterprise to be made available. We are developing enormous internal transportation machinery. We cannot stop when we have reached the ocean and realize that we are not capable of handling that part of it which largely determines where the great tides of commerce must run. As Mr. Sifton said in the speech referred to:

"When we see one transcontinental railway in full operation, another reaching completion, and a Canadian Northern which will probably before long be a transcontinental line, three direct lines to Canadian outlets, when we think of the great sacrifices that have been made to develop our transportation system surely we can have the necessary complement, that which

Our Business Creed

We believe in the goods we are handing out in the firm we are building up and in our ability to get results. We believe that the best goods can be secured out of honest people by honest methods. We believe in working not overtopping, not knocking, and in the pleasure of our work, we believe that a man can reasonably expect to get what he goes after, that one does not do now what one plans for the future. follows as the day the night, we can add to that general system an ocean service which shall put us on the same footing in respect to this, as that upon which we stand in the general business of the country. Sir, what answer can we make when we are told that, while Canada is developing very rapidly, while she is improving her general transportation facilities, she is still satisfied to remain on a side street, still satisfied to remain dependent for the ordinary interests of business upon the courtesy and good will of our neighbors to the south? It ought not to be so. It seems to me the time has come when Canada can afford what is in this respect, a necessity for her national growth and development. "And it should be done now. Mr. Speaker, even if you allow that everything will be done that can be done, and done with all reasonable speed, it will be impossible to bring this service about inside of four years, probably five years. You have to get the several governments together; there are the interminable discussions between the members of the several governments; the British government has been brought in; the four parliaments have to be consulted. In view of all that is to be done, it is not to be expected that this can be brought into effect inside of four or five years. Then if we are going to do it for this generation, the time has arrived when we ought to make a beginning."

Lord Strathcona, in his setting forth of the whole subject before the Royal Colonial Institute, while showing the advantages which would result to the Empire at large, dwelt particularly upon the advantage to Canada, "the half-way house of the Empire," as he termed it, and demonstrated that the All-Red Route in point of mileage and speed will have the advantage over the Panama canal, when that great undertaking is completed at a date which at the best must be many years in the future. Said Lord Strathcona in conclusion: "I am not exactly a young man and the years remaining to me may be few, but I hope I may live to see the All-Red Route in operation; I believe it is destined to fulfill the most sanguine expectations of those who look upon it as likely to prove of the greatest possible benefit to the Motherland, Canada and Australia, and to the Empire at large."

BETTER TIMES ARE COMING

The eastern papers, says the Winnipeg Commercial, have managed to keep rid of disparaging crop dispatches this season. Most of them have done justice to the situation, and if any unfavorable messages have been sent to them by sensational reporters, they have not published them. The Montreal Witness, commenting upon the outlook, says that never in the history of the Dominion have the general conditions for the growth of the crop been so continuously favorable as in this season, and the result is that in every district of the west the yield will probably establish the local record for abundance and quality. The Montreal office of the Canadian Pacific has received notification from its western representatives that the extra help required to harvest the crop would amount to between 25,000 and 30,000 men. Further improvement in general business conditions throughout the country is reflected through the railways, in their decision to engage many more thousands of skilled mechanics and laborers, as a result of renewed activities in the locomotive and car shops, requiring the construction of large consignments of engines and material of all descriptions. Not only are the railways preparing for better times, but the Commercial adds, that numerous manufacturing concerns are making ready to turn out a greater quantity of manufactured goods, as the demand for all kinds of simple wares is increasing. The steamship companies, it is pleasing to note, are enjoying increased traffic, according to statistics just issued. Inland navigation companies report satisfactory trade from port to port, while the favorable prospects of an early movement of the crop to the sea board are responsible for considerable enthusiasm among vessel owners. Bankers are becoming a little more lenient in their distribution of funds, with the result that private and public corporations and industrial firms are now able to complete reorganization with a view to meeting the better trade conditions which are now appearing on the horizon.

PLEASE DON'T GRUMBLE

The most unfortunate class of people living upon this green earth are the grumblers. They rob home of its joys, society of its duties and themselves of the best things of life. From the days the children of Israel grumbled and were sent on their tedious wanderings "for forty years in the wilderness" up to the present hour the world has been full of grumblers. It is "too hot" or "too cold," "too wet" or "too dry."
People in reasonable circumstances have no cause for grumblers, while the rich grumble that they can't get rich faster.

WILL BE HARVESTING IN ONE WEEK

That harvesting will commence in Southern Alberta within one week from now is the expressed opinion of Director Fairfield of the experimental farm. The fall wheat has been safe for weeks and without the heavy shower of Tuesday afternoon would not have suffered by the hot dry breeze of last week. Some of the spring wheat on dry land might have suffered to the extent of not filling out as plump as it might have done, but the ideal weather of this week and the heavy shower mentioned has placed it all out of harm's way. Everything points to a crop equal to the most sanguine hopes and expectations and far in excess of any previous yields in the province or district.

Dominion Fair to be Held in Pincher City Next Year

That is, if it will be satisfactory to the people, and to the Fair Association; more will be said on the subject later on. It might not be interesting reading for us to tell you of the great sights we saw at the Dominion Fair at Calgary, for everybody has been there and have seen the same sights. It is not for the purpose of calling your attention to the great Dominion Fair held at Calgary, we write, it is for the purpose of attracting your attention to OUR FAIR PRICES ON MERCHANDISE

To our many customers who are reaping the benefit of our fair prices, this will be no news to them, but it is those who are practicing extravagance by dealing at high priced stores that we are after, for it is those people who are complaining about hard times. We have thousands of dollars' worth of high class dry goods. Ladies' wear, house furnishings, staple and fancy groceries, which we are selling at fair prices; space will not permit us to name the many articles and quote prices on same, but we will assure you that we will give you one hundred cents worth of merchandise for one dollar.

Remember when you are dealing with us you are dealing at a strictly cash store, and you are not helping to pay some never pay's account. By helping to pay other people's accounts you may be practicing philanthropy, but you are not getting any credit for it in this world, and we are afraid very little in the next.
